

A woman with blonde hair tied back, wearing a white t-shirt, grey shorts, and blue gloves, is using a red and black weed whacker to clear a grassy hill. A long orange power cord is visible trailing up the slope. In the background, a two-story house with a grey roof and a balcony is visible, along with a large evergreen tree on the left.

BILL OWENS

WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY A.M.HOMES

Index:

- 3_ A Prize For Every Player by A. M. Homes
- 13_ Riots, San Francisco University {1967-68}
- 29_ Altamont {1968}
- 41_ Shots from the Taxi Cab {1967-68}
- 45_ Suburbia {1970-72}
- 73_ Our Kind of People {1969-75}
- 95_ Working (I do it for the Money) {1975-77}
- 115_ Leisure: Americans at Play {1973-80}
- 135_ 115 Days. A Photographer Journey across America {2003}
- 185_ New Suburbia, Hayward {2006-2007}
- 209_ The Altamont story by Bill Owens
- 211_ Bill Owens: a life in Suburbia by Claudia Zanzi
- 215_ Bill Owens {exhibitions and publications}